

EMEA corporate tax manager

Google's Tax department is looking to hire a corporate tax manager to join the tax team based in the EMEA HQ in Dublin. You will succeed in this role if you have strong tax technical skills, good commercial judgment and the ability to work in a fast-paced environment.

This role requires proven project management skills and a track record of strong cross functional and cross regional collaboration on complex operational business solutions. This role reports to the EMEA tax director.

Requirements:

- Degree in Business, Finance, law or Accounting with a strong academic record. Masters degree a plus.
- Be ITI qualified with a Big 4 or legal practice or equivalent and have experience of working with large cross border transactions in industry, practice or both.
- Have strong technical skills and extensive experience of advising on international tax matters.
- Have strong interpersonal skills and ability to influence at the highest levels.
- Ability to explain technical concepts in a simple and comprehensive way to colleagues without a tax technical background.
- Ability to manage complex projects and work independently to achieve overall company business objectives.
- Willing to do some travel and adapt to US timezones.

Responsibilities:

- Assist with proactive tax advice with respect to the group's operations in the EMEA region and advising on tax consequences of various transactions including assistance in acquisition integration and reorganization activities, such as due diligence and liquidation or reorganization of acquired subsidiaries.
- Partner with regional business leaders, finance and legal teams in addition to external advisers on various business and tax planning matters.
- Monitoring and analyzing proposed and newly enacted EMEA tax legislation.
- Support with managing regional tax audits conducted by revenue authorities in various EMEA countries.
- Work with the outsourced tax compliance process for EMEA and support U.S. international tax compliance for relevant subsidiaries including providing assistance with FIN 48 documentation process.
